Course Overview

In today's security landscape, the ability to carry, handle, and operate firearms safely is often a critical requirement for security professionals operating in high-risk environments.

The Fundamental Firearms for Security Professionals (FFSP) Course provides comprehensive firearms training from first principles through to advanced fire and movement techniques. Learners train in fully controlled UK environments using full-bore firearms, gaining both the theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary to respond to threats effectively and safely.

Training is delivered across classroom, indoor range, and outdoor fire-and-movement environments, ensuring participants develop the confidence, competence, and situational awareness required for professional firearms operations.

Who is the course for?

This course is designed for security professionals who require firearms competence as part of their operational roles, including:

- Security officers operating in high-risk environments
- Executive protection and close protection personnel
- Law enforcement and government security staff
- Corporate security teams requiring firearms readiness
- Anyone seeking professional firearms training within an accredited framework

Participants must meet legal and regulatory requirements for firearms training and safe handling in the UK.
